Bonus Units Loss Would Hurt, Local Officials Say

Superintendents Say Carroll's Figures Don't Paint The True Money Picture

By LOWELL ATCHLEY
Murray Ledger & Times Staff Reporter

Kentucky Governor Julian Carroll's 1979-1980 budget proposals for elementary and secondary education may look good on paper.

But, while local school officials praise the governor's proposals to further beef up teachers salaries, they're concerned with having enough money to pay the day-to-day operating expenses.

At the center of a controversy that has erupted statewide between school administrators and the administration is a type of funding called "bonus unit."

Current budget proposals call for ending bonus unit funding. School administrators throughout the state say that will hurt.

Under proposed financing plans for elementary and secondary schools during the next two years, Calloway County School System would lose $109,319 and Murray Independent School System would lose $70,383, according to school officials.

Carroll's administration projections point out that while school systems will lose the bonus unit funding, they'll gain the money back under the new budget.

Carroll further explained his school financing plans today in a letter to the Louisville Courier Journal along with an accompanying table backing up his argument. The table clearly shows Calloway County not receiving $109,319 bonus unit money and Murray not getting $70,383. The table also shows the county school system gaining $318,765 and the city system getting $228,090 through the proposed budget. Both systems, on paper, show net gains — Calloway, $209,446 and Murray, $157,707.

Yes and no, say Jack Rose, superintendent of Calloway County schools and Robert Glin Jeffrey, head of Murray city school system.

"Much of that money is earmarked and there is very little discretion on the local level about how it can be used," Rose said in an interview Tuesday. "The major part of our allocation is earmarked for teachers' salaries."

Based on the number of teachers, units Calloway County School System had at the beginning of this school year, the county school system will get $185,888 in teacher pay hike money next year, under budget proposals. Murray city system would stand to gain almost $132,000.

Kentucky Department of Education set up the bonus unit system in the early 1950's to provide for children with special needs, handicaps or desires beyond the normal realm of education. The units were set up as bonuses, not penalizing school districts for educating children with special needs.

Although school administrators use bonus unit money for vocational education, vocational agriculture and other programs that free other money for other expenses, both Jeffrey and Rose said.

School administrators point out the governor's budget allocates "new money," but that money is restricted.

Under Minimum Foundation proposals for next year, Calloway County School System will get $30,366 in power equalization money, $34,289 for fees, $35,922 for current operating expenses, $19,740 as a bonus unit for administration and $12,560 capital outlay. Murray city system will get $24,171 equalization money, $22,209 fee money, $24,825 operating expenses money, $19,740 bonus unit for administration, and $8,680 for capital outlay.

But, Rose pointed out that only the equalization money and the bonus unit administration money allows him any flexibility.

"The $35,922 current operations expense money is the kind we use to grant pay raises for classified uncertified personnel. It is also the kind of money we use to pay unemployment insurance, utility bills. Our unemployment insurance is going to cost us $35,000," Rose said. Utilities the first half of this school year were up $17,000. "And we still haven't given anyone a raise yet," Rose said.

With the bonus unit money gone, Rose said, "At best we would be $59,000 in the hole and at worst, $83,000. But this doesn't mean that we'll end up with the budget in the red either. We'll just have to make some significant adjustments elsewhere."

House May Act On Inheritance Tax Measure, Service Contracts

By T.G. MOORE
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Bills to increase state inheritance tax exemptions and to establish a permanent legislative subcommittee to review personal service contracts are among those that could come up for a vote in the Kentucky House today.

Joint appropriations, and Revenue Committee budget review hearings were to continue with Commerce Secretary Terry McBrayer scheduled to testify on the Development Cabinet budget.

Other committee activity scheduled today includes hearings on a proposed product liability law and on the learning disorder dyslexia.

On Tuesday, the Senate spent most of its session arguing over rules, while the House passed a bill to make misuse of a stolen automated bank card a felony.

The measure, House Bill 37, would include so-called bank debit cards in the statutes relating to misuse of stolen credit cards.

The House also voted 95-1 in favor of a bill to require medical, visual and dental examinations within two weeks after a child is placed in a foster home.

House Majority Leader Bobby Richardson, D-Glasgow, was dealt a mild rebuff when the lower chamber refused 68-22 to approve a Department for Human Resources bill he sponsored.

The bill, House Bill 159, would allow an increase of up to $4 in the fee for copies of vital statistics such as birth and death certificates.

Several legislators objected to the proposal as unnecessary and costly to the consumer. Copies of the documents now cost $3.

A grinning Richardson appeared to be content with ending the debate when he moved for clincher after the vote. Adoption of a clincher motion prevents the issue from being considered by the chamber again, thereby "clinching" the matter.

Another bill sponsored by the majority leader was sent back to committee after the only substantive debate of Tuesday's House session.

House Bill 132 would allow juvenile courts to retain jurisdiction over juvenile offenders until the age of 21.

Richardson said the age limit was frankfort

inadvertently reduced to 18 during the 1976 special session.

Under the proposal, an offender under the age of 18 who was committed to a Department for Human Resources facility by a juvenile court would remain under the juvenile court's control until he reached 21. If the offense were committed by a person over 18, the case would still be handled by regular courts.

Several lawmakers complained that it would be unfair to allow persons over the age of 18 to be kept in juvenile court jurisdiction when they otherwise are considered adults.

The House voted 49-34 to send the measure to the Judiciary-Statutes Committee. The bill was originally reported out favorably by the health and welfare panel.

Other bills passed by the House include one to allow county attorneys and commonwealth attorneys to carry concealed weapons when they accompany law enforcement officers on raids.

Council Session Slated Thursday

The Murray Common Council will meet in regular session Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall. Items listed on the agenda for the public meeting include:

- the second reading of an ordinance establishing an appeal procedure for commercial establishments whose refuse pickup rates are increased;

- the second reading of an ordinance designating the number of standing council committees and the membership of each committee;

- the first reading of an amendment to the city personnel ordinance;

- authorization for an audit of the city police court to be conducted for the year 1977;

- discussion of a memorandum of understanding between the city and the Calloway County Fiscal Court concerning a dog warden;

- a resolution recognizing past members of the council;

- consideration of a recommendation from the Murray Planning Commission that would adjust rates for rezoning requests and public hearings;

- a recommendation from Mayor Melvin Henley on filling the vacancy on the planning commission created by the resignation of Dick George.

The meeting will be held in the council room on the second floor of City Hall. The meeting is open to the general public.

Pornography Subject Of MSU Session

A conference entitled "Community Rights and Pornography" designed to serve as a forum for a broad range of opinions on a controversial topic will be conducted at Murray State University on Thursday, Feb. 9.

Scheduled from 12:30 to 5 p.m. in Room 208 of Faculty Hall, the session is open to the public at no charge. It is supported in part by a grant of $3,972 by the Kentucky Humanities Council. The conference is sponsored by the Center for Applied Research of the Department of Speech and Theatre in cooperation with the College of Creative Expression. Dr. Jerry Mayes and Dr. James Booth are co-directors of the grant and conference coordinators.

Mayes said the conference will examine several of the significant issues related to the pornography controversy, particularly the right of communities to set standards for regulation of the display and sale of pornographic or obscene materials.

"Neither the Kentucky Humanities Council nor Murray State will endorse any position on the question," he pointed out. "The purpose is simply to provide the audience with information needed to make its decision."

The focus of the conference will be on three of the most pertinent questions related to the subject of pornography:

- Can pornography or obscenity be legally defined?

- What are the effects of pornography or obscenity on the community in which it exists?

- What rights do communities have to control the presence and distribution of materials that may be considered pornographic or obscene?

A conference format has been devised that includes dramatizations, debates, speakers, a simulated trial, and question-and-answer periods. People who attend the conference will be assigned to jury groups to deliberate the question and to deliver a consensus verdict.

Besides Mayes and Booth, other members of the university community who will be actively involved in the conference program are Dr. Carroll Harrison, Robert Valentine, James I. Schemp, and Larry Ritter or the Department of Speech and Theatre.

Joe Freeland, prominent Paducah attorney, and Dennis Null, Mayfield city attorney, will take opposing viewpoints during the simulated trial on the concept of the community right to control the presence and distribution of pornographic or obscene material.

Representatives of several other disciplines on the campus—journalism, religion, law, psychology, sociology, literature, business, and entertainment—will give testimony during course of the trial.

Anyone interested in the conference may register in advance or obtain additional information by contacting: Dr. Jerry Mayes, Department of Speech and Theatre, Murray State University, Murray, Ky., 42071, telephone (502) 762-4483.

UMW Council Withholds Action On Coal Contract Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — As coal supplies for electrical utilities run short in the Midwest, the United Mine Workers' bargaining council is demanding a more precise explanation of the proposed settlement that could end their longest strike ever.

The 39-member council of district and national union officials decided Tuesday it would not vote on the settlement until it could review more than the contract summary presented to it.

UMW President Arnold Miller said that after seven hours of discussion, the council decided to wait until "all the language is edited and put in final form."

He said UMW officials, industry representatives and federal mediators would meet within a few days. "We agreed on principles, but we haven't got the specific language," Miller said.

Drafting the contract provisions could take several days. If it is approved by the council then — which cannot be assumed — a ratification election by union members could take another 10 days. And if miners approve the contract, another two weeks would be required to begin moving coal to customers.

The time factor is becoming increasingly important for electrical utilities dependent on coal.

The strike, in its 65th day today, has cut coal production in half, and electrical output has been reduced in several states where stockpiles have fallen sharply. Bad weather has hampered delivery of what coal is available.

In Indiana, a spokesman for Gov. Otis R. Bowen said the latest delay "just about guarantees" mandatory electric power cutbacks in the state.

"We need a quick settlement if we're to avoid a serious economic hardship in this state," said spokesman William J. Watt.

In Ohio, Gov. James A. Rhodes already has asked President Carter to order miners back to work, saying his state and others "could be facing disaster" unless coal shipments are resumed.

The proposed three-year contract would give miners an average daily wage of about $84, or $2.35 an hour above the current $7.80 average hourly wage. Wages and benefits would rise a total of 37 percent over the life of the contract.

Property Descent And Why Your Will Is Important

"Happy Harbor"
Burned January 7
The family cottage, "Happy Harbor," on Kentucky Lake burned during the electrical, rain storm on January 7. Nothing remains but crumbled concrete blocks of which the cabin was built, the stone fireplace and more than 30 years of memories.

We bought Lot No. 1 at the Tennessee Valley auction and built a vacation home soon after the purchase. Ruby and Noel Melugin joined us in the project. They, with George and me traveled the 15 miles each afternoon after work, to see the progress of the construction. We talked about naming the cabin "Peanut Butter Lodge" because our supper down there consisted of peanut butter, ripe tomatoes and pickles - things we could pick up hurriedly and take with us. But we named the lake home "Happy Harbor" after many suggestions and votes by the two families.

Living there proved to be a happy experience and the place possessed a quiet harbor for boating and swimming. Many activities happened there. The Senior Girls Scouts to which Lochie Fay and Carolyn Melugin belonged, held a week's camp there. There were about a dozen girls included. Camp regulations were followed and members participated in the work. Ruby and I were camp directors. A United States Flag was raised daily in front of the cabin by Charlie Marr while William Thomas Parker played the bugle. The two young men were quite popular during the week's stay.

We shared the cabin with others, and to many there are precious memories. There were three honeymoons there, that I can remember. One of the things that I wish we could have saved the guest book. It was filled with the names of friends here and away. George entertained the executive board of the Kentucky Bankers Association while he was president. One of the guests said he couldn't sleep because of something running on the roof, and the noisy whip-poor-wills.

Sunday school picnics, club meetings, business meetings were held there. High school annual staffs have laid plans while staying a weekend in the quiet rendezvous.

Ruby and Noel sold to us and built a cabin or summer home across the lake. Their family and ours had grown to include in-laws and grandchildren that made us of one cabin rather crowded.

Bertha Jones and I went to the cabin alone one day. She is a talented musician and poet. While there she scribbled the following poem which describes the location beautifully.

Huckleberry Bend
I spent a whole afternoon at Huckleberry Bend;

We talked of now and yesteryear, I and a true, tried friend.

From out the cabin window, I saw upon the lake
A million beauties rare: The sun, like diamonds

Glistening-made a picture, artists dare.

A rocking chair, a fireplace where one can sit and dream; Before I know, my tears are gone and in my eyes a gleam. Regrets creep in I couldn't help because I found Such bliss. I'd love to share with those I love;
Somehow, I'm made like this.

The memories of that afternoon will stay until the end Because there's so much beauty down at "Huckleberry Bend."

Bertha is a patient in Mills Manor, Mayfield. Her children are Rowena Cullum, Murray, Edith Paschall, Puryear; Jane Fitch, San Diego, Calif. and Raphael, Texas.

Ruth Warren Group Of Church Holds Meeting

The Ruth Warren Group of the Sinking Springs Baptist Church met in the home of Pat Dalton on Jan. 10 with Patsy Neale presiding in the absence of president, Phyllis Whitney.

The monthly program entitled "Plenty of Vision-Not Enough Resources" was centered around the North Central states population, and was presented by Patsy Neale, Martha Covey, and Carolyn Carroll.

Judy Smotherman and Carol Turner were in charge of the monthly Prayer Calendar for Missionaries.

Each of the eleven members present gave mission project ideas for the group to study. Prayers were led by Wanda Walker, Ava Watkins, and Della Bogges.

Three members from Northside Baptist Church visited the group meeting to obtain ideas for a newly formed group at their church.

Refreshments were served by Pat Dalton and Carolyn Carroll.

Members present included Nancy Bogard, Patsy Neale,

Della Bogges, Linda Roach, Carol Turner, Judy Smotherman, Wanda Walker, Carolyn Carroll, Martha Covey, Ava Watkins, and Evelyn Willie. Visitors were Shiela McGinnis, Judy Jones, and Janice Graham.

Who will receive your worldly belongings at the end of your life? All who plan to die - and a few who don't - should ask themselves this question.

An up-to-date will, properly prepared, is assurance that your property will pass to those of your choice at your death. Wilmer Browning, Extension economist in the UK College of Agriculture, points out that, without a will, your estate will be divided according to state law rather than your wishes.

"Remember, you have worked hard to accumulate property during your lifetime," Browning says. "Kentucky law gives you the privilege of determining who will get and enjoy this property after your death. But if you want your property distributed in a way other than that provided by laws of descent and distribution, you must have a will."

A will is a written statement that specifies who shall receive property at the owner's death. A will is not effective until, after the owner's death, the County Court orders that the provisions of the will be carried out. Anyone with objections to the will can raise them at this time.

Only your last will is valid. This means that you can rewrite your will at any time as - conditions - change. Browning recommends that you destroy your old will when you've written the new one, to avoid confusion over which applies. He also points out that recent changes in federal estate tax law make it important that you review your will and update it if necessary.

"If your present will was written before October 4, 1976, you definitely should review it," he says. "There have been significant changes in use of marital deductions, lifetime gifts and other areas. In addition, the minimum size of estates subject to federal taxes has been increased. These changes may not make it necessary to revise your will, but you should have a look at it with possible changes in mind."

"It's best that you have an attorney's help in preparing your will," advises Browning. "Since you won't be there after your death to explain what your writing means, an attorney can help you word your will so it can be interpreted easily later."

"The fee charged by most attorneys for a simple will is not large," Browning adds. "Feel free to discuss charges with your attorney before the will is prepared."

Among the advantages of having a will are these:

You can decide on the distribution of your property in event of your death; the costs of settling your estate may be reduced; you will have the privilege of naming a man or woman to carry out your wishes in estate settlement; you may indicate who is to care for minor children; if you wish, you can set up part or all of your estate in a trust for the benefit of someone; disputes may be prevented that could

Hairbrushing In Right Direction Presented

The right brush can make styling your hair easier, improve its condition and is easier to use. Here are some things GLAMOUR Magazine believes you should look for before you buy.

BRISTLES

The type of bristle you need depends on the texture of your hair. In general, the heavier or coarser your hair, the stiffer the bristle should be. Natural bristles, although available in different stiffnesses, tend to be softer than synthetic bristles and are often too gentle for coarse or thick hair.

On the provide, they remove more dirt than synthetics and are quite good at smoothing and styling hair. In general, synthetic brushes clutch the hair well, are lower-priced and easier to care for than natural bristles.

Some of the newest brushes don't actually have bristles at all, but rows of rounded flexible teeth made of rubber or another synthetic set into a cushioned rubber pad. These

Auditions For Chamber Orchestra In March

The Arts Council announced that preliminary plans have now been completed to pave the way for the formation of Paducah's own Chamber Orchestra. Arts Council Director, Don Hayes, noted with the wealth of fine musicians in the area we are confident of being able to mount our first series of concerts this year.

The Chamber Orchestra will be composed entirely of volunteer musicians under the direction of a professional conductor.

Negotiations are now underway with Xavier Cendajas of the Kentucky Opera Association who has expressed a strong interest in becoming the Chamber Orchestra's first conductor. As the conductor will be the only paid member, it will be necessary to seek financial support from the community to underwrite the first series of concerts scheduled to begin in September of this year.

Business and individual support is being sought and the Arts Council is planning to set up a special fund. Any business or individual wishing to make a tax deductible contribution would make their checks payable to Arts Council Chamber Orchestra, P. O. Box 301, Paducah, KY 42001.

Auditions for area musicians will be held in March. Anyone wishing to audition should send a brief musical history to the Arts Council and a staff member will contact them to arrange an appointment time.

Although no pay will be involved this season, as the orchestra's financial picture improves, members will be able to share in the profits. The projected growth and progress of the area in the next few years has strongly influenced the decision to begin development of the local artistic resources.

Shoe Salesman Blows His Top

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1978 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: OLD SHOE DOG's letter certainly steamed me. I sold fine shoes to both men and women for over 50 years, and I always removed the customer's shoes. (Shoe dog says, "Doctors don't undress their patients, so why should we remove shoes?" What an idiotic comparison. There is nothing degrading about undressing a foot.)

Shoe dog complains, "Most people don't even know what size shoe they wear!" Why should they? A competent shoe salesman routinely measures the customer's foot, then gives him (or her) the size that fits. Besides, shoe sizes change according to one's weight. (If you've gained or lost 20 pounds you can't wear the same size dress or suit you wore before your weight changed. The same is true of your shoes.)

I don't know where OLD SHOE DOG sold shoes, but he never could have made it in MY store.

SHOE DOG (RETIRED)

DEAR DOG: You weren't the only one who had a bone to pick with OLD SHOE DOG. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I'm a practicing chiropodist with a few thousand words for OLD SHOE DOG.

It's shoe dogs like him who are responsible for all those corns, bunions and ingrown toenails we foot doctors see in our offices every day.

Some shoe clerks sell shoes they know will cripple the customer just to make a sale. And some shoe manufacturers should be jailed for manufacturing shoes (especially for women) that not only torture the feet, but cause chronic back problems. Those pointed-toe shoes and five-inch heels so popular in the 50's ruined the feet of millions of women.

Lately I've had MEN come in with serious foot and back complaints caused by the platform shoes they've been wearing. Sometimes I think the whole world has gone mad. Withhold my name, please. I'm not quite ready to retire.

PUZZLED PODIATRIST

DEAR PODIATRIST: I am well acquainted with the pointed-toe shoe of the 50's. I fought that battle after putting my foot in it!

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I shouldn't complain, because my fiancé says he loves me a lot and I know he never even looks at another girl, but here's my problem:

Every deer hunting season, he says he'll see me after the season is over. He is so crazy about hunting, he goes every minute he has off from work. Abby, everyone says I'm a fool to wait for him to come to see me when he feels like it. I think if he really cared for me he'd see me on weekends during the deer season, don't you?

Next season, should I tell him he can either find time for me or he can find someone else?

SECOND CHOICE

DEAR SECOND: If you're sure the only kind of deer your fiancé is interested in is the four-legged kind, you're lucky. Don't challenge him to find another "deer" unless you want to go hunting for a new boyfriend.

If you feel left out and lonely, or wish you knew how to get people to like you, my new booklet, "How To Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old," is for you. Send $1 along with a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Never leave a key under the doormat or hidden anywhere else outside.

Campus Lights

Once again the annual production of "Campus Lights" is upon us. This year's show will open at Lovett Auditorium, Murray State University, on Thursday evening and continue through Friday and Saturday evenings with performances planned to start at 8:15 p. m.

The special Murray State production is known throughout the area, state of Kentucky, surrounding states, and all across the nation. Many persons make this an annual event on their calendar and plan each year to visit Murray to attend this special production by the music department of the university.

This event began in 1938 and has continued each year except during the years of World War II when the student body population was low and the production was changed to "Campus Dimout" during the war years.

The Murray Ledger & Times salutes the MSU Department of Music for continuing this special production each year as it annually adds prestige to the university, the city and the entire area by staging entertainment of this high caliber for the community.

Where Does All The Money Go?

When you give to the American Heart Association you are helping yourself. You are giving to the only organization that directs its full energy and resources to fighting the nation's number one killer, heart and blood vessel disease, medically known as cardiovascular disease. The annual death toll approaches one million — more than twice the number who die of cancer.

Three-fourths of each dollar you contribute goes directly to research, education and community programs to help you and millions of other Americans. Only one-fourth of that contribution goes for administrative services — one of the lowest percentages for administrative services in the voluntary health field.

With your dollars, the Heart Association is combating a composite of diseases that afflict 29 million Americans. Most of the money you give goes for research — 28 cents out of every dollar. Public health education gets 15 cents. Nineteen goes to community services and 13 cents are directed to professional education and training.

Through your contributions, the American Heart Association supports research that has led to improved methods of controlling high blood pressure. Your dollars support blood pressure screenings, cardiopulmonary resuscitation training and nutrition programs in communities throughout the country.

Public education programs tell you the dangers of high blood pressure, as well as other aspects of cardiovascular disease. Professional education and training programs help keep doctors abreast of the latest medical developments.

Most recent health statistics reveal that death rates of heart attack and stroke and other forms of cardiovascular disease are actually decreasing. The American Heart Association cannot take full credit, but it would like to think its research, community and education programs are helping bring about the decline.

Still, many people needlessly die of cardiovascular disease. That is why your contributions are so important. They are the only source of funding for the Heart Association.

Help yourself. Give to the American Heart Association. They are fighting for your life with every dollar you give them.

Inside Report

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

Reagan Regret

WASHINGTON — Astonished by the offer, Ronald Reagan turned down republican national chairman William Reagan turned down Republican national chairman William Brooks' proposal that he share the party's formal rebuttal of President Carter's nationally televised appeal for approval of the Panama Canal treaties. Brock's offer was made before the networks decided whether or not to grant the Republicans equal time to answer Mr. Carter. What made it seem preposterous to Reagan, an all-out treaty opponent, was that he would have been twinned with Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee — a proponent of the treaties if amended to assure U.S. intervention rights.

"That's a great image for the Republican party," one Reagan aid told us. "Divided we stand, united we fall?" His point: the party would be split putting one Republican on the air defending the treaty and another Republican attacking it.

Reagan is still smarting under Brock's decision not to mount a national committee campaign against the treaties, using funds partly collected by an anti-treaties letter sent to contributors over Reagan's name. Indeed, Brock's offer to give Reagan a spot in the party's rebuttal of Mr. Carter was intended to save Reagan's resentment.

Brock's problem was multiple: first, avoiding preferential national exposure for one potential 1980 presidential candidate, such as Baker, over another, such as Reagan or Sen. Robert Dole; second, handle the rebuttal while minimizing splits within the party over the treaties; third, find a Republican consensus in sharp enough disagreement with the President to make a rebuttal worthwhile.

Reagan, vacationing in Mexico, never did talk directly to Brock. But in discussing the proposal with his own aides — and quickly rejecting it — Reagan made clear that any "rebuttal" to Mr. Carter that showed the Republican party split down the middle would be self-defeating.

A footnote: Reagan political advisers want him to take a hard public line against the treaties as a National Catastrophe, with or without the amendments backed by Baker. That's bad news for Baker, whose support for the amended treaties has hurt him badly with the Republican right wing. Reagan might diminish that damage by praising the Baker-backed changes.

DOES JIMMY KNOW

Democratic Gov. James Exon of Nebraska and nine other farm-state governors were shocked when Jimmy Carter turned to Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland during a closed-door meeting Jan. 31 to ask whether farmers were running into credit problems because of low farm income.

Mr. Carter, quoting a warning to that effect from Sen. Herman Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, asked Bergland if it was true. Bergland didn't know, and asked one of his aides. The answer Mr. Carter got was: no, there is no "liquidity crisis" in the wheat and corn belts.

Exon, who had set up the White House session to warn Mr. Carter of political rebellion in the farm belt, jumped in at that point. To the contrary, he told Mr. Carter, there certainly was a credit crisis in Nebraska, and other states too. Banks were being forced to extend notes beyond their maturity dates and were encountering evermore stringent liquidity levels.

What worried Exon and the other governors was the implication of the President's and Bergland's lack of knowledge about a fundamental economic problem. One told us: "We had to ask ourselves, is Mr. Carter getting the facts he needs to make the nation's farm policy?"

The session did have its successes. The President for the first time seemed genuinely aware that a massive farm problem threatens his party next November. He also showed some interest in Exon's proposal that the four major wheat-exporting nations — U.S., Canada, Argentina and Australia — combine their resources to increase foreign sales abroad at steadier and higher prices.

DEMOCRATIC FUND RAISER

The White House has agreed to conditions laid down by California Democratic leader Charles Manatt to become national finance chairman, but those conditions do not include the right to back a presidential bid by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. against President Carter. That means Manatt will support Jimmy Carter against Jerry Brown if he is still finance chairman. Manatt, a popular member of the Democratic National Committee, had been expected to play a key role in any Brown Campaign.

Asked nearly a month ago by Democratic national chairman John White to take the fund-raising post, Manatt since then has been discussing terms with White and presidential aide Hamilton Jordan. All requests by Manatt were granted.

A major concern of Manatt was the White House-backed change in party rules that would downgrade the importance of late presidential primaries, such as California's in June. Manatt was informed he is free to vote against that change when it comes before the Democratic national committee in April.

HEARTLINE

HEARTLINE is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question of problem not answered in these columns, write HEARTLINE, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: My neighbor recently showed my wife and I a newsletter for the National Association of Older Americans. Do you have any information on this group? C.F.

A. The National Association of Older Americans (NAOA) is a new organization for older Americans. This group is just ending its first year of existence. The purpose of NAOA is to help aid our older generations as many ways as possible.

The NAOA organization offers one of the most informative and entertaining newsletters available to senior citizens. Subjects range from consumer protection ideas to coverage of all governmental retirement programs. They have staff to answer your questions, and aid you with problems that may arise. In addition to this, there is also a prescription drug program that offers substantial savings and starting this month will offer a very competitive Medicare supplement health insurance policy.

For a free brochure explaining NAOA, write to Heartline-NAOA, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio, 45381. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HEARTLINE: What are the requirements for a veteran to obtain medicare care at a VA hospital? C.S.

A. Veterans discharged from active duty under other than dishonorable conditions who need treatment for service-connected disabilities, have first priority. Veterans needing medical attention for non-service-connected disabilities may also receive treatment if they certify their inability to pay for such treatment elsewhere, and space is available.

HEARTLINE: My uncle, who was receiving a pension from the Veterans Administration, was recently sentenced to a year in jail. Who will get his pension now? J.C.

A. He will continue to receive his pension for the first 60 days he is incarcerated. If he has a wife or child his pension benefits may be continued to them as an apportionment.

HEARTLINE: Your advice to people to check on their Social Security through the Baltimore office is very important. But could you add one more caution: In writing — check with the Home Office of any life insurance policies they hold — asking the "status" of each insurance.

It took me almost two months of writing and phoning to find out that three insurance policies, which were paid by me through 1976, were listed as lapsed in 1973. I keep all cancelled checks, and produced them, in contacting our local agent, the local insurance office, two letters to the area home office, (one by certified, return receipt mail) and one letter to the New York Office, and got no response to any of them. I then contacted, by letter, our State Insurance Department, who "routed" everyone involved, and after weeks of despair trying to resolve the problem, we are now in the final stages of straightening it out. The books, (mine) with the insurance payment marked showed "through Dec. 1976" but there was no record at the Home Office.

It is unbelievable this could have happened. One policy was more of less straightened out two years ago, but we were not advised then, or now, that it was considered lapsed. No notices have ever been received on any of the three policies. As I pay by the year (12months) each time, an all policy numbers are shown on the checks, there could be no mistaking.

To be sure I am attaching copies of both sides of the canceled checks to the various policies. I am a retired person, and after my demise, I wish the policies to be carried on with no problems. (One of the three is terminated for cash value).

I might add, one of the policies was paid in March of 1976, but the agent had taken the full amount for 1976, and neither he, the local office, nor the area home office had advised me of same. They did refund the amount paid from April through December, 1976, after the State Insurance Department became involved. I wish to add that I feel that my problem may be only the "tip of the iceberg" concerning insurance policies, particularly in this area, through this nationally-known, and I might add, internationally-known, insurance company. Mine are all considered "small" policies. Maybe larger ones are not in jeopardy.

All three policies were issued in the 1940's.

R.S.D., Berwick, Iowa.
A. We feel that this letter says it all. Again, make a yearly check with your insurance company on all existing policies.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

RESEARCH ON A SAFER CIGARETTE

During all of the recent debate about smoking, tobacco and health, one issue has been ignored: the need for more research aimed at developing a safer cigarette.

Dr. Peter Bourne, the White House health adviser, has stated in a speech to the American Cancer Society that research on a safer cigarette is the only approach that offers any hope of success. I could not agree more.

Unless we are willing to say that a totally safe cigarette is beyond the capability of modern science -- and that flies in the face of all scientific progress of recent decades -- then we must pursue this course vigorously.

The other course, getting millions of Americans to quit smoking, is some what analogous to efforts to get people to quit drinking during Prohibition. No matter how worthy the cause it is extremely doubtful of success.

How much wiser and more productive to pursue the scientific research approach, or at least pursue it at the same time as the anti-smoking educational effort.

Unfortunately, the Department of Agriculture's budget which was released last week contains a budget cut that is diametrically opposed to that position and which would be a tremendous setback in our efforts to develop safer cigarettes.

That budget cut was the proposed elimination of a $3 million tobacco production research program, which funds various kinds of tobacco research. During the current fiscal year this program provided $729,000 to the University of Kentucky, most of which went for research to remove potential health hazards from tobacco.

Senator Ford and I have already issued a strong protest to Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, and we have also written to the chairman of the Senate and House Agriculture Committees, and the chairman of the appropriations subcommittees that handle the department's budget. We do not intend for this program to end.

Hopefully, H.E.W. Secretary Joseph Califano and other government officials will someday see the light and come around to the position of Dr. Bourne, which is more sensible, more practical, and stands a far greater chance of success.

Hot Water Bottles Help 'Cavs Halt Jazz Streak

By TOM CANAVAN
AP Sports Writer

The Cleveland Cavaliers had a little surprise for the New Orleans Jazz, but Mother Nature and the Chicago Bulls had an even bigger one waiting for the Philadelphia 76ers.

The Cavaliers had the unenviable task of trying to take a little fire out of the red-hot Jazz, who had won 10 straight. They did even better — they took the steam out of the Jazz, literally.

The game was played in the Richfield Coliseum where a combination of zero-degree temperatures outside and a court set over the Coliseum ice created a frigid effect. The end result was that it was so cold that players for both teams were provided with hot water bottles to keep their hands warm.

The bottles seemed to work wonders for Cleveland and one little used guard, Terry Furlow.

"I'm glad they had them (hot water bottles), because without them maybe this wouldn't have happened," Furlow said after scoring a career-high 22 points in leading Cleveland to a 122-99 victory.

Philadelphia wasn't as lucky as the Cavaliers. Not only did they have the cold weather to brave, but a hectic bus trip from Philadelphia to Washington for a plane ride to Chicago for the game.

"I got up at 6:15 this morning," 76ers Coach Billy Cunningham said, "but I couldn't get a yes or no answer from the Bulls on whether the game would be played. I didn't know whether or not to tell my players to shovel their driveways or else meet to take the bus."

The 76ers did not arrive at the court until game time and the start of the contest was delayed 75 minutes.

Despite the trip, Philadelphia held a 13-point lead in the third quarter only to see Chicago reel off a 16-6 spurt and eventually go on to score a 108-106 victory over the 76ers.

"I'm very proud of our team after all the adversity on what must have seemed a harrowing experience," Cunningham said. "But we simply ran out of steam. But for me, this 18 hours has been the longest of my life. I'll never forget that bus ride through ghost towns and all those abandoned vehicles."

In other NBA action, Los Angeles bested Buffalo 132-105, Boston edged Indiana 92-89, Golden State trimmed Washington 105-102 and Portland at New York and New Jersey at San Antonio were snowed out.

Furlow hit 10 consecutive free throws to spark a second-period surge that carried Cleveland to its third consecutive victory and moved them past the Jazz into third place in the NBA Central Division.

Bulls 108, 76ers 106

Artis Gilmore scored six points in the fourth quarter before fouling out with less than two minutes to play, and Chicago hung on to defeat Philadelphia.

Philadelphia had its three-game winning streak stopped as the Bulls defeated the 76ers for the third time this season.

Lakers 132, Braves 105

Lou Hudson and Adrian Dantley combined for 53 points to lead Los Angeles as the Lakers handed Buffalo its ninth consecutive loss — the team's longest losing streak since they dropped the final 11 games of the 1972-73 season.

Hudson and Dantley each had 10 points in the opening quarter as the Lakers jumped to a 37-19 lead and never looked back.

Celtics 92, Pacers 89

Sidney Wicks and Dave Cowens each sank two free throws in the final minute as Boston won its fourth straight game — the team's longest winning streak this season.

The Pacers, who trailed by 16 with 4:06 left in the third quarter, rallied to tie it at 88 on Ron Behagen's layup with 1:07 left in the game. Wicks made two free throws with 44 seconds left and Behagen went to the free throw line three seconds later, but missed his second shot to give Boston a 90-89 advantage.

Cowens, who led Boston with 18, then hit two free throws with 36 seconds left to lock up the Celtics' victory.

Warriors 105, Bullets 102

Rookie Rickey Green hit a field goal with 14 seconds to play to break a 102-102 tie as Golden State defeated Washington.

The Warriors had taken a 100-96 lead with a little more than two minutes to play on a pair of free throws by Sonny Parker and another on a technical foul made by Rick Barry.

The Bullets tied the score on consecutive field goals by Kevin Grevey and Elvin Hayes, who led all scorers with 25 points.

Marquette Posts Easy Win, Louisville Romps

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The Creighton Bluejays got a bad case of indigestion when a "BLT" was shoved down their throats at the Milwaukee Arena.

"BLT," in this case, was not a bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwich but a giant-sized helping of "Butch-Lee Time" — an expression former Marquette Coach Al McGuire coined for the Warriors guard who feasted on the Bluejay Plate Special Tuesday night.

Lee collected 30 points in the third-ranked Warriors' 82-57 joyride over Creighton, helping Marquette improve its record to 18-2.

"We tried any number of players and defenses on Lee and we couldn't even slow him down," marvelled Bluejays Coach Tom Apke after Lee had pulled within a point of his career-high performance.

"I'm not sure that the only player who could stop Butch Lee one-on-one isn't Butch Lee himself, by getting in foul trouble or losing his concentration or something like that," said Apke.

"We had it down to eight with a chance to cut it to six, and then — to quote an old friend (McGuire) — it was 'BLT.'"

But it had been BLT virtually from the start. Lee and Jerome Whitehead scored two baskets each to give the Warriors an 8-2 lead before Creighton pulled even. Lee added eight points in a 12-point run that gave Marquette a 20-8 lead that was challenged only slightly.

If it was any consolation to Coach Apke, Rick Apke led 12-7 Creighton with 17 points. Eight of those points pulled the Bluejays within 48-40 early in the second half.

Elsewhere, No. 9 Louisville hammered Tulane 115-86; 11th ranked DePaul downed Duquesne 83-58; No. 12 Texas toppled Rice 102-86 and No. 18 Syracuse lost 97-83 in an exhibition game against Athletics in Action.

Ricky Gallon and Darrell Griffith each scored 22 points to carry the Cardinals past outmanned Tulane in a Metro-7 conference clash.

"Let's face it, Louisville is a better ball club," admitted Green Wave Coach Roy Danforth. "Once we get way behind a club like that, we can't catch up."

William Dize came off the bench to score 22 points and lift 19-2 DePaul over Duquesne. Gary Garland managed 14 points for Duquesne, which committed 27 turnovers and sagged to 8-11 as a result.

A 36-point performance by Jim Krivacs paced the 19-3 Longhorns past the Rice Owls, who got 29 points from Alan Reynolds but dropped to 4-17 and 2-9 in the Southwest Conference. Texas is 11-1 in sectional play.

Tim Miller Signs With Murray State

Tim Miller, 18, a 6'4", 220-pound tight end at Carroll County High School, Carrollton, Ky., has signed an Ohio Valley Conference letter-of-intent at Murray State University.

Murray Coach Mike Gottfried, in announcing Miller's signing, said, "Tim is a blue chip player and one who can come in and play right away. We are confident he will add much to our program and we are delighted that he has made the decision to play his college football at Murray State.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller, 207 10th Street, Carrollton, Miller was a four-year starter for Coach Clyde McConaughay at Carroll County High and won first-team Class AA all-state honors as a defensive guard. He also was named the most valuable player on his team, was two years its leading receiver, and honored as its defensive lineman of the year.

Miller is the fourth recruit signed by Murray. Previously signed were Greg Worthington, an all-state defensive end and fullback from Warren East High School, Bowling Green; Rick Biglin, an all-conference fullback and linebacker from Crestline, Ohio; and Tim Wheeler, a three-time All-Kentucky offensive guard and middle guard from Erlanger, Ky. Bret Thomas of Covington, Tn., had previously signed but has decided to attend school elsewhere.

WINGING IT — Glen Olive of the Lakers jacks up a 20-footer from the wing for two of his 14 points in the Lakers' loss at Lone Oak Tuesday.

JIMMY LAMB records an easy basket on this fastbreak drive as he sails high off the floor. Lamb finished with 10 points for Calloway County.

THREE-POINT PLAY — Daryl Bushrod scores as he's fouled on this play by Brent Dreher of the Purple Flash. Bushrod also canned the free throw and the play cut the Lone Oak lead to 41-34 which is the closest Calloway came in the second half.

10th-Rated 'Flash Slams Lakers 80-61

By MIKE BRANDON

Ledger & Times Sports Editor

There may soon be a shortage of bananas around the Paducah area.

Albert Norris, the basketball coach at Lone Oak, happens to have a monkey on his back. But unlike a lot of other coaches, Norris wants to keep that monkey alive and well.

Lone Oak made its debut Tuesday in the Associated Press Top 10 as they finished in a tie for the 10th spot. Then Tuesday night, the Purple Flash assured themselves of staying in the top ten as they blasted visiting Calloway County 80-61.

"We feel like it's an honor to be rated in the poll," Norris said after his club posted its 14th win in 15 games. Lone Oak's only loss was by four points in the Tilghman Christmas Tournament to the hosts, just a week after Lone Oak won at home 87-62 over Tilghman.

"The teams left on our schedule are teams that are always after us anyhow so what difference does it make? We're proud to have the rating," Norris added.

Lone Oak was tied with Calloway County at eight apiece with only three minutes left in the opening period. But a 20-footer by David Wilkins followed by two buckets from high-scoring Barry Tidwell boosted the lead out to six.

Then with 1:46 left in the quarter, Tidwell stole the ball, scored on a break and was fouled. He made the free throw for a 17-8 lead. By the end of the quarter, Lone Oak led 23-11.

The 'Flash had leads of 29-13 and 36-19 before the Lakers scored the half's final six points to trail 36-25 at intermission.

"Other than the second quarter, I felt we played a pretty good game," Norris said. "I felt we turned it over too many times in the second quarter and we didn't shoot very well either," he added.

Down 41-29 two minutes into the second half, the Lakers made an attempt at making a game of it. Daryl Bushrod scored from inside and then on the next trip down the floor, converted "on a three-point play to trim Lone Oak's lead to 41-34.

Lone Oak then rattled off four consecutive points and for the rest of the period, the lead went back and forth from 11 points to nine points before the quarter ended at 55-44.

Jimmy Lamb opened the last period with a bucket for the Lakers to make it 55-46 before Lone Oak exploded for 13 consecutive points for a 68-46 lead with still five minutes left to play. During that streak, 6-2½ senior Brent Dreher scored six points.

Lone Oak's largest lead was 22 points.

All five Lone Oak starters finished in twin figures with Tidwell hitting for 25, Brent Dreher 21, David Wilkins 11, junior Bruce Dreher 11 and sophomore Stan Shewmaker 10.

The 'Flash played without one of their best players, John Paul Felker, sidelined with a case of tonsillitis.

"John Paul is our version of James Lee," Norris said. "He's a strong and aggressive player and gives us the spark. With four good shooters in the lineup along with John Paul, we have a lineup that really plays well together."

While Lone Oak played well together, even without Felker, Calloway County didn't play well together and Laker coach Clayton Hargrove thinks that's what cost his team the game.

"I'm totally embarrassed by my team's performance. It's the first time I've ever put a team on the floor and I was embarrassed sitting on the bench."

"They didn't hustle on defense. We had Lone Oak outsize inside but they must have doubled us in rebounds. We didn't go to the boards at all. We came back in the second half and got within seven and had a chance to win."

"But you never win ballgames unless you play as a team and we simply didn't play together," Hargrove added.

Three Lakers hit in twin figures with Glen Olive sacking 14, Bushrod 13 and three members of the Murray Marathoners participated in the First Memphis Marathon which was held Sunday, February 5, on the grounds of the Shelby County Penal Farm in Memphis.

A total of 89 runners began the arduous 26.2 mile trek in chilling conditions. With 25 mile-per-hour north wind blowing constantly, and an outside temperature of 27 degrees, the windchill factor made the temperature hover near zero degrees for the entire run.

For Dr. Adam B. Lanning III, a professor of sociology at Murray State University, said it was a welcome event since Memphis is his boyhood home.

He had the additional satisfaction of running step-for-step with his son Adam B. Lanning IV, now a student at Memphis State University. The younger Lanning (age 23) is a 1973 graduate of Murray High.

This run was Adam IV's first attempt at a complete marathon. His time was 3:30:15.

"It was an experience never to be forgotten," according to the senior Lanning. "It's a rare happening today for father and son to face formidable hardships and pain together, and then to share the joy and exhilaration of achievement over these obstacles," he added.

With about three miles to go Adam III, a veteran of many previous marathons, pulled away to finish in 3:26:40. Their respective overall finishing places were 29th and 31st.

Competing in his second marathon, Dr. Ron Wuest, a Murray chiropractor, ran a very fine time of 3:15:16 which was good enough for third place in the 30-40 age group and 20th overall. This time was more than 30 minutes faster than his first marathon at Huntsville, Alabama, in December.

Jimmy Lamb 10.

The most impressive thing about Lone Oak was their organization. They zipped quick passes, played excellent together and showed fine fundamentals. They did things right, like checking the boards and blocking out, denying the baseline and scrapping for the entire game.

"The one thing we lack is size and if we don't try to get inside position, we won't rebound. We encourage our kids strongly to go to the inside," Norris said.

It was Tidwell who went inside the best as several times, he followed shots up and scored on offensive rebounds.

"We expect that kind of play from Barry and we're beginning to expect it from other people. Barry's just always in the right place at the right time. Brent Dreher gave us an excellent game too. He's very strong and a quick jumper with a lot of strength in his shoulders. He really doesn't play 6-2½. He's a gentleman in every way and is very intelligent. And he knows if he doesn't get up and go to the boards, we may not get the rebound."

What kind of depth does the Flash have?

"Well, if substitutes could do it all, they wouldn't be subs would they?"

"But Ken Hancock had 17 points against Lowes Saturday and Kris Houser does a very good job when he comes in at guard.

"There are a lot of good clubs in our district, such as Tilghman, St. Mary and Heath. Ballard Memorial is coming along and Reidland could break loose any game," Norris added as he looked ahead to tournament time.

Lone Oak is in good shape as for the rest of their season schedule. All of their games, with the exception of a makeup date at Tilghman, are at home.

Norris will be crossing his fingers though Sunday as the drawing will be held for the Second District Tournament.

Also, Hargrove, whose team is now 9-7, will be snapping wishbones too as the drawing for the Fourth District Tournament is set for Sunday.

Tigers Get Revenge By Edging Marshals

By KEVIN PENICK
Ledger & Times Sportswriter

The Murray High Tigers pulled an upset victory Tuesday night against Marshall County as they squeaked by the Marshals 68-63.

The Marshals came, the Murray after defeating Calloway County twice this season and Murray High once by a 13-point margin.

Marshall County coach Rick Leeper was surprised by the strength of the Murray team. "They just seemed unstoppable. We tried everything we had but they just kept coming," Coach Leeper said.

The Tigers didn't waste any time in showing Marshall County what they were in for as they immediately gained control of the boards and consistently penetrated the Marshals' defense. With excellent passing and good shooting from inside and outside, the Tigers were leading at the end of the first period by six points at 20-14.

Willie Perry was sudden death on rebounds as he dominated the defensive boards for Murray High and Frank Gilliam led them in scoring with 30 points in the contest.

Two other Tigers scored in double figures center Howard

Boone contributed ten points, Perry had 12, and Ed Harcourt added eight more from the field.

The Marshals came back in the second period of action when forward Jeff Copeland put forth a super effort and scored 12 of his 22 points to shave the Murray High lead to four points at halftime. The score was 35-31 at the break.

Tiger coach Cary Miller commented, "We played much better. We've been playing better every game and we are running our patterns well. We had a couple of defensive lapses; but, offensively we did what we wanted to do."

The third quarter was a basketball lovers delight as the two teams battled fiercely and although apparently evenly matched the Tigers managed to stretch their precarious lead by one point to the end of the quarter at 49-46.

Although both teams had 30 rebounds, Murray outshot Marshall County by hitting 28 of 54 from the field while their opponents managed to sink only 25 of 61 attempts at the basket.

"Frank Gilliam had a real fine game with 30 points and Willie Perry was right in there for us," said Coach Miller. "Howard Boone did a good job for us in spite of some foul trouble. Brad Taylor ran a fantastic offense and we had a typical great game out of Ed Harcourt," he added.

The final quarter was a real cliff hanger as the Marshals rallied and Copeland came through for them again and scored six quick points to bring them in striking distance at 57-55 with 4:37 left in the contest. Gilliam scored two for Murray only to be countered by two by the Marshals' Chris Orr.

After a timeout by Murray with 2:00 left on the clock, the Tigers went into their "delay" game and steadily pulled ahead to win the game, 68-63.

Marshall coach Leeper said, "I am not disappointed in the way we played. I am disappointed that we lost of course. We executed well. They just outplayed us," Leeper added.

"The kids deserved this win. We've worked super hard in practice and put out a special effort. I hope and believe that this is an indication of better things to come," said Coach

Miller. "I think we are going to have an unusually good district tournament," he added.

Murray has a tough schedule this weekend as they travel to Hickman County Friday night and host mighty Mayfield Saturday night. It will be interesting to see how Murray fares against Mayfield who also defeated Marshall recently. Murray will take a 7-7 mark into the game.

SOARING ED HARCOURT goes in for one of his four field goals in the victory over Marshall County. The Tigers gained revenge for an earlier loss with a 68-63 win over the Marshals.

Joe Namath To Coach And Teach . . . In Movie

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent NEW YORK (AP) — Hey, all you hero worshipers, the next time you see Joe Namath he probably will be standing in front of a classroom with chalk in hand or in a gym blowing a whistle at a bunch of scampering kids.

Can you visualize pro football's most celebrated quarterback, the swinger with the full length mink coat and lama rug as a high school teacher and high school coach?

That he confides, is his prospective next step now that he has retired from football. But it's not for real. It's something that can be found in the head of one of those Hollywood producers.

"I'm making a pilot for a television series," Joe explained. "Shooting starts next week. The script calls for me to be a teacher and a coach. I've always thought I would like to be a teacher."

It's what they call in the trade a sit-com, or situation comedy. If it clicks, Broadway Joe will be seen in one of those weekly half-hour series. He will become a rival of "Welcome Back Kotter" and "Fonzie in 'Happy Days'."

This is the sort of priceless information one gets when he is snowbound by the fiercest blizzard to strike the East Coast in 30 years.

Turn a TV knob and there is Sal Marchiano, one of Roone Arledge's crack sports corps at ABC, interviewing the former Super Bowl Hero in his Los Angeles apartment.

Namath, besides telling of his immediate plans, reiterated his aim to make it in show business.

"There are so many people who can act better than I can," he admitted, "but I will work hard."

Marchiano asked Namath when he actually decided that he will not play any more after the 1977 season.

"About six weeks into the season," said the 11-year veteran who lost his quarterback job to Pat Haden, I was standing around at practice doing nothing. I wasn't contributing anything."

"What will you miss most?" the sportscaster asked.

"The people — I will miss the people I've been around," Namath replied.

"What will you miss the least?"

"The press," Joe said sourly. "He gave the impression he wanted to spit."

Aw, c'mon Joe that's a disillusioning legacy to leave us.

"What do you mean, press?" — every guy who crowded around your locker during those glory years with the Jets, every guy who dared ask a question, ridiculous or legitimate?

You paint with a broad brush.

Experience has shown there is a certain immaturity — often a paranoia or complex — about a celebrity or superstar who whines about "persecution of the press."

It may be fashionable in Hollywood, it may be smart for the jet-set, but it behooves an athlete who is hoisted to fame and fortune through public exposure.

GREAT NIGHT — Frank Gilliam (52) of the Tigers had a great night against the Marshals Tuesday as he finished with 30 points. Though the inside is bottled up, Gilliam still manages to work his way under here for two points.

(Staff Photos by Kevin Penick)

THUD — Jeff Copeland gets his shot jammed by Brad Taylor and Copeland also gets his head jammed on the play. Helping defense Copeland is Frank Gilliam (52) of the Tigers.

Special Districts Bill Gets Out Of Committee

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — An omnibus special districts bill finally made it out of a House committee, but it still faces attempts to amend it on the floor.

The Counties and Special Districts Committee Tuesday reported out substitute aimed at eliminating some of the complaints against the long-debated bill raised by soil conservation district and library districts.

However, new opposition arose at the hearing from Jefferson County's volunteer fire departments.

Dennis Clare, a lawyer representing Jefferson County's 19 volunteer fire districts, said he was afraid the volunteer commitment to community fire departments would wane if control over the districts were transferred from local boards to county fiscal courts.

Rep. Al Bennett, D-Louisville, wanted to delay committee action on the bill until he could offer an amendment to exempt the Jefferson County fire protection districts. He said he will still present the amendment on the floor.

An amendment will also be filed by Rep. Lewis Foster, D-Louisburg. It would exempt library districts from the measure.

Libraries have offered the most vocal complaints against the bill, which would consolidate state laws regarding special service districts and would vest more control over them with local governments.

The committee substitute approved Tuesday provides that a library district cannot be dissolved, merged or altered by a county fiscal court without the approval of the state librarian.

Librarians had expressed fears about the authority given fiscal courts in the original bill to dissolve special districts.

"This prevents arbitrary dissolution, merger or alteration," said the committee chairman, Rep. Mark Fitzgerald, D-Cynthiana. "I think it is the ultimate safeguard we could put in the bill."

Although Marco Polo introduced spaghetti to Europe in the form of Chinese noodles during the latter part of the 13th century, the tomato — the necessary ingredient for its companion sauce — took two more centuries to arrive from the New World.

The changed bill would also exempt soil conservation districts from the law, since their boards of directors are elected.

The omnibus bill, which now goes to the floor of the House, provides uniform procedures for formation and dissolution of special districts now covered in 27 different statutes.

It also provides for fiscal court approval of any new special district, and requires uniform budgets and accounts and annual audits of the districts.

The bill provides that service charges or assessments by special districts would be subject to review by fiscal courts.

Existing special districts would be exempt from approval by fiscal courts if they do not attempt to expand on their existing powers. They would have to draft a charter, however, and file it with the county clerk.

Special districts provide a variety of services such as water, flood control, garbage disposal, hospitals, drainage and ambulance service, with some of the districts having the authority to levy taxes.

"This is a very needed bill," Fitzgerald said. "Special districts now spend more money than a majority of counties and cities. This is a vehicle to provide accountability as far as taxpayer's money being spent."

American Host Families Of European Teachers Needed

Families are needed in this area to host English-speaking European teachers as guests in their homes for a one or two week period this summer. It was announced by The American Host Foundation. American Host is the only non-profit, non-governmental program designed to show the American way of life to European teachers by pairing them with American families. It is a nationwide home hospitality program which is endorsed by the Department of State. Now in its seventeenth year, American Host has opened the doors to better understanding for more than ten thousand English-speaking European teachers who have passed on their new understanding to their students, friends and colleagues when they have returned to their homelands. Being a Host Family is open to anyone who has the desire to increase understanding and friendship between Europeans and Americans. Host Families are required to provide a private room and meals for their guest and to give their guest the opportunity to meet friends and neighbors and to see local sights of interest. American Host Foundation arranges all transportation, but Host Families are asked to meet their guest upon arrival in their area. Visitors and Host Families have the opportunity to correspond for at least a month prior to the visit. Anyone interested in being a Host Family or learning more about the Foundation's activities may write: American Host Program, 12747 Brookhurst Street, Garden Grove, California 92640, Telephone: (714) 537-5711.

Louisvillians Going 'Shark Raving' Mad

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The snow sharks are gone, probably headed for the Northeast and a blizzard that offers better hunting.

They drove everyone in this town shark-raving mad, including Gary Burbank who invented them.

The sharks always show up during a heavy storm and Burbank, a disc jockey, told his listeners, "never go sledding after major surgery."

"If you're in the yard and think you see a snow shark, point the part of your body you most value toward the house."

Burbank also suggested it's a good idea to "walk in snow with a fat person or a skinny bleeder. The shark will go for them first."

The whole thing, which began about three weeks ago, has snowballed.

In four days, Burbank's station, WHAS, gave away 10,000 bumper stickers, reading, "Caution: I brake for snow sharks."

People have called in to report that hundreds of cars were off the sides of the road with teeth marks on their tires.

"One guy told me he was driving his Monarch and he saw a snow shark coming and jumped out just in time," Burbank said. "The snow shark swallowed his car and dropped dead. Mercury poisoning."

A little girl telephoned and explained how to catch snow sharks with a tuna fish sandwich, a pair of binoculars, a pair of tweezers and a pickle jar.

You throw the tuna fish sandwich into a shark-infested snow bank, look at the sharks through the wrong end of the binoculars, pick them up with the tweezers and put them in the jar.

Other listeners came up with jokes.

"Why don't snow sharks appear on game shows? They would stump all the contestants."

And:

"One snow shark asked another: 'Who was that lady I saw you with last night?' And the first snow shark replied, 'That was no lady. That was my dinner.'"

Or:

"Did you hear about the snow shark who ate his mother-in-law and found out that she still disagreed with him?"

Another question:

"What happens when you cross an elephant and a snow shark? I don't know but when you walk behind it, be sure to carry a big shovel."

Burbank said he got one call from a woman in Atlanta, who wanted to know if it was safe to walk her dog.

"I advised her to wear a sharkskin suit. They'll think you're one of them."

Rep. Kenny Imes' Bill Would Centralize Auto Registration

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Although the idea of a uniform automobile registration law has met with consistent failure in Kentucky, another attempt to enact such a law is being made in the 1978 General Assembly.

Rep. Louis Guenther, R-Louisville, told a news conference Tuesday he thinks there is ample time this session to get the bill passed. He added the measure has been changed to meet previous objections.

Guenther said individual county court clerks would still handle registrations, but would use a computer link with a Transportation Department office in Frankfort to file the registrations into a central computer.

Registrations would be issued to the automobile owner through the Frankfort office, but a car dealer temporarily registering a vehicle would be able to get an immediate carbon copy from the clerk.

A prime objection to a similar measure that passed the House during the last two Legislatures but died in a Senate committee has been made by auto dealers, who felt they would be tied down too long in receiving title to a car before they could sell it.

Kentucky is the last state in the nation without a centralized system of registering motor vehicles and Rep. Kenny Imes, D-Murray, who

New England Blizzard One Of History's Worst

By DAVID WYSOCKI
Associated Press Writer

The Northeast was trying to dig out from under mountains of snow and clean up flooded areas today, but life was still far from normal for millions of people as transportation and business remained snarled.

Federal troops were moving into Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island, declared federal emergency areas by President Carter in the wake of the snowstorm which swept from Maryland and Delaware, up the coast through New Hampshire and into Vermont on Monday and Tuesday, bringing more than 2 feet of snow and hurricane-force wind to some areas.

The toll of storm-related deaths throughout the area was near 50. Thousands were homeless because of flooding; commuter rail and bus service was sporadic; roads barely passable.

All businesses in Massachusetts, where a power blackout in Boston and some looting added to the trouble caused by the snow, were closed on orders of the governor. Non-emergency traffic was banned on all state highways from Boston, 40 miles west to Worcester.

Anyone walking or driving on a state highway faced arrest for trespass.

Motorists found to be on the road in Connecticut for non-emergency reasons during the morning were ticketed by state and local police; 80 persons in Bridgeport alone were cited. The ban was expected to end at noon. Post offices in the state were open, but all banks, state offices and schools were closed again.

The huge snowdrifts hampered travel, even for the troops. Crews at Logan International Airport in Boston were trying to get one runway open by noon so Army planes could land; the airport was not expected to be open for regular traffic until Thursday.

Off the shore, the Coast Guard planned to evacuate 32 men from an oil tanker grounded near Salem, Mass. Five men on board a pilot boat sent to aid the tanker on Tuesday were feared lost.

The first detachment of 30 men arrived in Rhode Island shortly after 10 a.m., with 300 to 500 troops due during the day.

Some 600 Army troops from a National Guard armory in Stratford used 180 pieces of equipment to try to dig out parts of Connecticut this morning. State helicopters searched for motorists on unplowed, secondary roads, blocked by drifts reported to near 18 feet.

While the East tried to cope with snow, the West Coast faced more rain. Another wave of Pacific storms battered the coast of Northern California early today and began moving south. Flood warnings were issued for three northern California rivers.

High tides in the San Francisco Bay area on Tuesday sent water crashing over a 12-foot dike onto the runways of Fremont Airport. An airport spokesman said water levels on the runways ranged from 6 inches to 2 feet; about 80 planes parked at the facility were sitting in water.

Bad weather, including cold and snow, plagued other parts of the country as well, but the Northeast was hit hardest.

An Air Force spokesman in New York said more than 6 million pounds of snow removal equipment and 1,000 troops would be airlifted into New England, mainly from Robert Gray Airfield, Texas. He said arrival times depended on runway conditions.

The dollar toll of the storm has not been counted, but is expected to run into the tens of millions of dollars. "It will take some time to get a detailed assessment of the damages," said Col. John Parker, who commanded about 115 National Guardsmen called to special duty in the Rye-Hampton area of New Hampshire, where the 18-mile coastline was lashed with record high tides and hurricane-force winds.

Jeffrey said that although the impact of the bonus loss may not be as great on the Murray system as the county system, "we'll have to look at our budget. It will be a big shock."

"Inflation, unemployment insurance, non-certified raises, utilities, are things we need to cover. If our ADA (average daily attendance) drops, we'll lose money," Jeffrey said. Jeffrey said the city school system will also be faced next year with paying some 17 teacher salary increases. The city school system has 17 school teachers over the number specified under Department of Education guidelines. These additional teachers, he said, enables the city system to have enrichment classes beyond the normal run-of-the-mill classes.

Rose said he expects to meet with a member of the governor's staff this week to discuss the loss of the bonus unit situation.

Both superintendents say they're waiting the outcome of General Assembly committee hearings.

Administration officials are also talking of not eliminating the system all of a sudden, but phasing it out over four years.

Farmers Lobby In Washington

Two members of the Calloway County American Agriculture Movement are now in Washington, D. C. working as lobbyists for the farm movement.

The two men, Bobby Kemp and Johnny Williams, will remain in Washington throughout the week talking to urban senators and congressmen.

A large number of farmers from all parts of the nation are working in some capacity in Washington to aid the American Agriculture Movement.

Forrest Burchard from Graves County is the elected state delegate along with two alternates, Tim Mobley from Logan County and Don Kenady from Christian County. One or more of these men are working full time in Washington. The state and national offices of the American Agriculture Movement will remain open until favorable legislation is passed according to a spokesman.

In Kentucky there are 32 American Agriculture Movement offices. These are mostly located in the western part of the state. One upcoming event that will be sponsored by these offices is the opening of an American Agriculture Movement Booth at the Farm Machinery Expo and Tractor Pull to be held in Louisville beginning February 15. The purpose of this booth will be to provide information to the general public about current farm issues.

The Calloway County farm movement organization is expected to meet next week after Kemp and Williams return from Washington, but an exact date for the meeting has not been set, according to a spokesman.

The current director of the federally-funded Right to Read projects for teachers education at Ball State, Dr. Ransom also is executive secretary of the Indiana State Council of the International Reading Association. She was named to that position in 1968 and the first to hold it.

The two-day program is named for Dr. Robert F. Alsup, who served as director of the Division of Reading at Murray State before his retirement in 1976. This year's theme is "Parents and Reading."

Dr. Ransom, one of the first women to be initiated into the formerly all-male Phi Delta Kappa, will lecture twice during the workshop.

At 7 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 10, she will speak on "Encouraging Children to Read."

The session will be in the lecture hall on the second floor of the Special Education Building, and will be followed by a reception in Room 341 of the same building.

Friday, Feb. 11, Dr. Ransom will be the speaker at a 12 noon luncheon at the Colonial House Smorgasbord, 641 North. Her topic will be "Reading is the Family."

Session leaders will include: Susan Ramp, Calloway County schools; Dr. James Gibbs, Western Kentucky University; J. Keith Pack, McGraw-Hill Publishing Co.; Judy Thomas, Davies County schools.

Also, State Rep. Keneth Imes, Murray; Mrs. Dorothy M. Byrn, Murray; Barbara Worthen, Paducah Independent schools; Jean Groves, Hopkins County schools; and Dr. Charles May, chairman of the Department of Child Studies of the University.

They will lead discussions on such topics as: Encouraging children to read; reading in a family; how a child learns to read; do's and don'ts for parents; parental assistance with tests and materials; helping children to succeed in reading; and team approaches to effective reading.

The full conference registration fee of $11.50 includes all activities, although tickets may be purchased individually for any of the sessions as well as the luncheon. Proceeds from the program are used to fund future lectures and the Robert F. Alsup Scholarship.

Home Ec Conference Conference In Chicago

When the 13th annual meeting of the National Council of Administrators of Home Economics convenes Feb. 15 in the Pick-Congress Hotel in Chicago, presiding will be Dr. Alice Koenecke, chairman of the Department of Home Economics at Murray State University.

A member of the Murray State faculty since 1960, Dr. Koenecke was elected president of the 450-member group last year, and will conclude her term by presiding at the Chicago meeting.

Dr. Beverly Fowler, former chairman of the Department of Home Economics at Murray State and now at Terre Haute, is the president-elect and will be installed as president at that time.

Formed in 1960, the NCAHE focuses on problems faced by home economics administrators across the country and seeks to help them with solutions and in the development of approaches for strengthening their programs. Its membership is made up of home economics administrators from the smaller public and private colleges and universities across the country.

The theme of the NCAHE's Chicago meeting is "Insights into Administration," and during its three days of sessions the topics to be discussed will include: Legal, moral and ethical considerations in dealing with the law; qualities of leadership vital to home economics administrators; assertiveness; and home economics in the year 2000.

Also appearing on the program, discussing "Innovative Interdisciplinary Programs," will be Mrs. Donner Beth Downer, a member of the University of Tennessee at Martin faculty.

Music Scholarship Audition Dates Set

Scholarship auditions at Murray State University for incoming music students in the fall of 1978 have been set for Feb. 11 and March 4-5.

Dr. Roger Reichmuth, chairman of the Department of Music, said eligible students may request an audition of any of the three dates. They will be notified of an audition time upon submitting the necessary application.

Students who audition on Feb. 11 will be invited to be the guests of Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha music fraternities at the annual "Campus Lights" musical production on that evening.

To be eligible for a music scholarship, a candidate must be a high school graduate by next fall, must have an acceptable academic record, and must have demonstrated musical aptitude and the intent to pursue a musical degree program.

Reichmuth said applicants and accompanists will perform at assigned times for the departmental scholarship committee. Auditions should be no longer than seven minutes and will be tape recorded for further referral by the committee.

He explained that applicants performing in more than one medium, such as instrument and voice, may have up to seven minutes for each performance.

In addition to the auditions, an orientation is planned for applicants and their parents, and campus tours and conferences with faculty and students may be arranged.

Anyone wishing to apply for a music scholarship audition should write or call for a scholarship application and an audition arrangement form to: Dr. Roger Reichmuth, Chairman, Department of Music, Murray State University, Murray, Ky., 42071, telephone (502) 762-4288.

Eagle Weekend Slated In LBL

American bald eagles will be the center of attention Feb. 24-26 when Lake Barkley State Resort Park, Cadiz, sponsors its ninth annual Eagle Weekend, in Western Kentucky.

More than 30 bald and golden eagles are known to be in the Land Between the Lakes just west of the park, and a field trip to observe these majestic birds is scheduled for Saturday morning with optional trips again on Sunday. Activities begin with registration Friday afternoon, Feb. 24. The fee is $2.00 per person, with an additional $2.00 field trip registration charge. Transportation will be provided for the field trips.

A three-part program will be presented Friday evening, featuring presentations by Dr. Jeff Lincer of Florida, formerly with the National Wildlife Federation, and U. L. Childs of the Tennessee National Wildlife Refuge. A movie about the eagle will be shown.

Following the Saturday morning field trip, a panel discussion will have as its subject, "Potential for an Eagle Management Program in the Western Kentucky-Tennessee Area." Saturday evening, Dr. Lincer will speak on the history of the bald eagle.

It is not necessary for interested persons to stay at the park to participate in the activities, but rooms are being held for those who wish to do so. Historymobile Exhibits To Be Ready For Road Trips In March FRANKFORT — The Kentucky Historical Society's new Historymobile exhibits on the evolution of the coal industry in Kentucky will be ready to go on the road in March, according to Tom Gatewood, Historymobile curator.

Because the coal industry draws national attention and interest, the society felt the obligation to place the advertising slogan, "Coal: Kentucky's Ace in the Hole" in historical perspective," he said.

The exhibit traces the industry's development and is divided into three main periods which begin with the pick and shovel days or the fatherhood operations in the 1840s. The second period began around 1900 when the company towns emerged and the railroad system and undercutting machines appeared.

"Throughout the 1920s, coal was still loaded by hand," Gatewood said. "During the modern period which began around 1940, the coal-loading machine and other sophisticated equipment was introduced. Because of government intervention, miners were required to have more technical knowledge, and the industry developed improved safety and new regulations for environmental protection."

A 13-minute slide show with historic photographs, folk music and interviews with coal miners depicts how the industry affected the lives of Kentuckians during each of the three periods. Besides the slide show, the exhibit includes a three-dimensional model of a coal barge, tools from the different periods, a model of an underground operation and one of a stripmine operation.

"The exhibit is designed to alert students and citizens of the Commonwealth to the tremendous productive potential of coal, as well as the enormous environmental impact involved in its use as a solution to the energy problem," explained Gatewood.

"One purpose of the Historymobile is the research, develop and circulate exhibits on themes most relevant to the interests of the people of Kentucky," Gatewood said. "another important purpose is to collect history as we travel by letting groups use the Historymobile's video equipment."

The video equipment will be available to elementary, high school, college and university students, as well as adult members of local historical societies, when the Historymobile visits an area. The traveling museum may be scheduled for schools, parks, libraries, prisons, nursing homes and other community organizations by calling Tom Gatewood, at (502) 564-3016.

Almost half of the earth's population is packed into about five percent of the earth's land mass, reports the Population Reference Bureau.

Since the completion of the Panama Canal at a cost of $387 million in 1914 after 10 years of construction, more than 425,000 vessels have passed through the waterway.

Let's Stay Well

Juvenile Diabetes Depends On Insulin

Q: Mr. B.F. says that his 12-year-old nephew has been diagnosed as having juvenile diabetes. He wants to know if insulin injections, which he now requires, will be needed for the remainder of his life.

A: By definition, juvenile diabetes mellitus is dependent on the use of insulin. Although this type of diabetes may occur at any age, it is more likely to become manifest at an earlier age and to be more severe. Insulin is required throughout the life of the affected person in the management of this type of disease.

In contrast, maturity-type diabetes mellitus may appear suddenly. Be alert for loss of weight, which may be associated with an increased appetite and thirst. The output of urine may become greater, requiring frequent trips to the bathroom.

The skin may itch for no apparent reasons and show signs of irritation or infection, particularly in the armpits, groin, or on the genitals.

The vision may become impaired, and the ability to concentrate and learn may lessen.

Arteries harden prematurely among persons with diabetes.

It is estimated that 10 million Americans have diabetes. Of this number, about one million are children. Though the disease is more common among females, it may occur in either sex. Nonwhites are more prone to diabetes than are whites; overweight persons are more likely to develop this disease.

As you may know, diabetes mellitus runs in families and is an inherited tendency. Therefore, a search should be made of blood relatives to see if they have any signs of the disease. An examination by a physician is usually necessary, including tests of the urine and blood. While diabetes mellitus cannot be cured, it can be controlled so that the affected person can carry on a relatively normal life. It is essential that a child with this disease and his or her family understand its nature so that the treatment can be followed as directed by the physician.

For Sale: Luck

Harold's mail order business perked up when he began offering "lucky stones" for sale. But postal authorities soon haled him into court on a charge of mail fraud.

"It's a phony deal," they told the judge. "Obviously no one can promise good luck from mere rocks."

But when Harold pointed out that he made no specific claims for the stones beyond their name, the court tossed out the charge.

"There is nothing immoral," said the court, "in the belief that gems or amulets affect the wearer's fortunes; if the defendant wishes to sell lucky rocks for what they are, without lying about them, (he) is not acting fraudulently."

The case illustrates the fine line the law must draw in deciding when the mails have been used to cheat the public. Consider another, contrasting case:

Here a man offered—by mail—to do psychic readings that would reveal "the whole truth" about a person's future. His readings were supposed to be based on date of birth, sex, and race. But all the man really did was to send out an identical form letter to everybody.

This time a jury found him guilty of "conscious and intentional fraud in promising to do things he did not intend to do."

And a woman ran afoul of the postal laws by operating a service for the lovelorn. Her technique was to pull in members with teaser ads such as "Wealthy manufacturer wishes to meet congenial, home-loving wife" or "Wealthy young widow seeks husband and adviser."

But in fact she never introduced anybody to anybody, contenting herself with simply pocketing the membership fees. Finding her guilty of mail fraud, a court said "the scheme cannot be said in any sense to be a bona fide matrimonial bureau."
